

Clover Mail - September Edition

Activities Cont.

Pass it on! STC members participated in the following this weekend...

Communication

- Council members participated in the SET run activities for National Youth Science Day project. These activities required a developed level of communication skills.

Citizenship

- Council members learned about diversity and inclusion through the Diversity Bingo game that they participated in.

Leadership

- Council members participated in the officer led Leadership Workshop. Members were tasked with building a structure out of straws. Unknowingly to them, their selected leader could only use the predetermined leadership style.

Kentucky 4-H State Teen Council

- Council members were surprised with a bonfire where the officers gave out books to a member in their happy huddle group;. Each book corresponded to one of the four H's.
- Council members received an in-depth presentation over the changes in the new Achievement Application.

Look at all we learned!

Guest Presentations

Ms. Ashley Holt

- Ms. Ashley Holt from the UK Office of Diversity visited the council and gave a presentation about "Valuing Different Perspectives." The council members participated in a "Diversity Bingo" game which sparked conversation involving differences and diversity on council.

Happy Huddles

Happy Huddle Time

- At the beginning of the meetings, the council members were separated into different themed happy huddle groups. In these groups, the members played team games and exchanged beads with someone who inspired them during the activity.

Board Presentations

Science, Engineering, and Technology Board

- During this meeting the SET Board presented their National Youth Science Day Project to the council members. The council participated in this project which involved making your own version of tag with conditionals and creating your own playground game with various provided objects.

KENTUCKY 4-H STC Spotlight

Take 4-H Leadership Further!

STC Spotlight

Breanna Burkhead

Breanna says she enjoys the family atmosphere about STC. It has taught her how to be inclusive with all ages of people and to never stop growing and making the best better. This is Breanna's second year on council. She is from Garrard County, in District Four.

Officer Spotlight

Reba Prather

Reba says she enjoys getting to see everyone grow and develop into the great leaders they are in STC. It has taught her how to be a leader and get out of her comfort zone. It has helped her develop into the person she is today. This is Reba's third year on council. She is from Pulaski county, in district 5. Her favorite thing so far about her officer term is going to the Kentucky State Fair and her dream of becoming a state officer in full circle.
